

About the artist

Marjut Karu Nousiainen is an Estonian artist who was born in Finland and now lives in Toronto, Canada. She studied at O.C.A. York University, Toronto School of Art, New York Studio School of Art and Weaving in Anjalankoski, Finland.

Although art in various forms plays integral role in Marjut's life, she lets her creativity flow also through playwriting and songwriting. In 2005 Marjut published a book about her father and his life in Estonia and his many escapes titled "Conversations at the Table".

In addition to her art and writing she has been actively doing environmental work for nearly two decades.

Marjut's artwork has been internationally exhibited in Estonia, Finland and Canada. She is a member of the Arts and Letters Club of Toronto, the Estonian Toronto Group of Artists (EKKT), Heliconian Club Toronto

Marjut's artist statement: "Try to be true to myself with all approaches to art. Experimentations and historical issues, environmental issues and health issues also represented. My heritage has shaped me in so much that I do."
